The 3 Things That Actually Matter

Fat loss comes down to fewer variables than the internet makes it seem. Get these three right and consistency does the rest:

- 1. Calorie deficit. You need to eat somewhat less than your body burns. Not drastically less — a moderate deficit (roughly 300-500 kcal/day below maintenance) loses fat while protecting muscle and energy levels.
- 2. Protein intake. Aim for roughly 1.6-2.2g of protein per kg of bodyweight daily. This is what actually protects your muscle while you're in a deficit — without it, a chunk of the weight you lose is muscle, not fat.
- 3. Resistance training. Cardio alone doesn't tell your body to keep its muscle. Lifting weights (even bodyweight training) 3+ times a week is the signal that says "keep this muscle, burn the fat instead."

This plan gives you a real starting structure for both. It's general guidance, not personalized to your exact numbers — for that, take the free AI Body Assessment at fitwid.fit/assessment.

7-Day Indian Meal Outline

Portion sizes vary by person — this shows structure and food choices, not exact grams. Each day follows the same simple pattern: protein + vegetables at every meal, controlled carbs.

Day	Breakfast	Lunch	Dinner
Day 1	Poha with peanuts	Grilled chicken/paneer, brown rice, mixed veg	Grilled paneer (2), sautéed vegetables
Day 2	Vegetable upma + boiled egg	Rajma, brown rice, cucumber salad	Grilled fish/tofu, salad, 1 roti
Day 3	Greek yogurt + fruit + almonds	Chicken/chana curry, quinoa	Palak paneer, roti (2)
Day 4	Idli + sambar	Egg bhurji, brown rice, salad	Soya chunks curry, roti (2)
Day 5	Oats + milk + banana	Fish curry, brown rice, mixed veg	Paneer tikka, salad, 1 roti
Day 6	Sprouts chaat + curd	Chicken curry, quinoa, cucumber salad	Dal, roti (2), bhindi fry
Day 7	Vegetable poha + peanuts	Rajma, brown rice, salad	Grilled paneer/chicken, sautéed vegetables

Snack ideas between meals: a piece of fruit, a handful of roasted peanuts/almonds, or plain curd/buttermilk.
Water target: roughly 3L/day.

Beginner 3-Day Full Body Workout

Do this 3 non-consecutive days a week (e.g. Mon/Wed/Fri). Rest 60-90 seconds between sets. If you're brand new to training, bodyweight or light dumbbells are enough to start.

Exercise	Sets x Reps
Bodyweight Squat / Goblet Squat	3 x 12-15
Push-Up (knee push-up if needed)	3 x 8-12
Dumbbell Row / Resistance Band Row	3 x 10-12
Glute Bridge	3 x 15
Plank	3 x 20-30 sec
Walking or Light Cardio	15-20 min

Repeat this same workout all 3 days for your first 2 weeks. Once every exercise feels comfortable, add a rep or a small amount of weight — that's progressive overload, the single biggest driver of real, lasting results.
